JAPAN'S TERMS MADE KNOWN

NOW IN THE HANDS OF RUSSIAN ENVOYS

Reimbursement for Expenses of War and Cession of Island of Sakhalin Main Features— Chance for Settlement.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 10.—In the glorious sunshine this forenoon the peace plenipotentiaries of the warring nations of the east went to the conference room in the general stores building of the navy yards here to hold the second session, at which, according to general belief, Japan might be expected to show her hand to her adversary. Upon moderation of stiffness of the terms will depend continuation of the war in the far east.

When the envoys gathered M. Witte produced a diplomatic note addressed to the Japanese, in which it is believed Witte took occasion to express surprise at failure of the Japanese to bring official letters at the first meeting yesterday after having laid much stress on necessity of examining credentials before the first step was taken. The purpose of the note was to make it show clearly the attitude of the plenipotentiaries from the beginning of the conference.

Presentation of the Japanese terms came at the very end of the morning session. Baron Komura himself handed the momentous document in duplicate in French and Russian to Witte, who thrust the papers in his inside pocket, and the session was declared adjourned.

PEACE CONDITIONS.

Reimbursement for expenses sustained in the prosecution of the war and cession of the island of Sakhalin constitute the main features of the peace conditions handed by Komura to Witte at the conclusion of the morning sessions of peace plenipotentiaries.

The word "indemnity" is carefully avoided, the term employed being "reimbursement" for the cost of the war. No sum is fixed, the amount being distinctly adjourned for mutual adjustment between the two countries after the Japanese expenditure has been ascertained. These are the two all important conditions, and those which the Russian plenipotentiaries find absolutely unacceptable. Unacceptable as they are, however, it can be stated that these two principal conditions did not come as a surprise to the Russian plenipotentiaries.

The friendly fashion in which Komura explained the conditions before handing them to Witte and the avoidance of the use of the word "indemnity" in the presentation of Japan's bill for the cost of war without fixing the sum leaves the way open for negotiations and constitutes main hope that a final agreement is possible.

Certainly the danger of a sudden rupture, no matter what the ultimate result may be, is precluded by day's developments. The other terms are substantially what the board expected and with one or two exceptions will probably be entertained as a basis of negotiations. They include:

Cession of the Russian leases to Liao Tung peninsula, comprising Port Arthur and Dalian; evacuation of Manchuria; reversion to China of any privileges Russia may have in the province and recognition by Russia of the principle of the "open door"; cession to Japan of the Chinese Eastern railroad below Harbin, the main line through northern Manchuria to Vladivostok to remain Russian property; recognition of the Japanese protectorate over Korea; grant of fishing rights to Japan in the waters of the Biharian littoral northward from Vladivostok to Bergh sea; relinquishment to Japan of Russian warships interned in neutral ports; finally a limitation upon the naval strength of Russia in the far eastern waters.

As a whole the terms are regarded as exceedingly hard by the Russians. In addition to the two principal conditions which cannot be accepted under Witte's instructions those relating to limiting Russia's naval power in the far east and granting of fishing rights upon the Russian littoral are considered particularly offensive to the amour propre of their country and of such humiliating character as to be inadmissible. The Japanese on the contrary, as Komura announced at the conference today, considered them moderate, contending that they only represent fair compensation for the expenses of the war and the victories they have achieved, their sole purpose being to attain the objects for which they have fought, the spoils claimed being only such as they are legitimately entitled to as a result of their military and naval successes.

The Russian plenipotentiaries as soon as the Japanese terms were in their hands called in the five expert delegates attached to the mission and spent the afternoon in consideration of the terms. Meantime the conditions had been placed in cipher and enabled to the ear with Witte's personal recommendations. It is hoped a reply will be received from the emperor tomorrow, in which case Witte expects to have the Russian response ready by Saturday, but it is likely that Saturday being the first anniversary of the birth of the czar will be the day of the presentation of the reply.

ROOSEVELT IN PENNSYLVANIA

TALKS TO ABSTAINERS AND MINERS

Spends Four Hours in Wyoming Valley and Everywhere is Heartily Welcomed—Enjoyed the Day.

Wilkesbarre, Aug. 9.—The president of the United States who came here to day and made an address to the delegates attending the annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, and the members of the United Mine Workers of America, was given a most enthusiastic reception. In fact the entire trip through New Jersey and Pennsylvania to this city was a series of ovations. Every station along the line of the Lehigh Valley railroad from Jersey City was decorated with flags and bunting and the crowds at the stations cheered the president heartily. But his greatest ovation was in the Wyoming Valley, where he spent four busy hours. The entire valley from Shicksping to Pittsburg took a holiday to do honor to the president. Mr. Roosevelt was in great good humor and enjoyed the day as much as the most enthusiastic abstainer or mine worker. It is estimated that upward of 200,000 visitors were in Wilkesbarre.

Before the president's train came to a full stop on its arrival here to day a great shout went up from the enormous crowd assembled at the station, which increased into a roar as the president stepped briskly from the train followed by Senator Knox and other members of the party. The crowd about the station was so great that the police had much difficulty keeping the enthusiastic multitude behind the ropes that had been stretched about the station. The president was met by a local reception committee, which included Father Curran and John Mitchell. Introductions over, the entire party walked through the station and took carriages for the drive to the speakers' stand on the common. The streets along the route from the station to the Susquehanna river, where the speakers' stand was erected, were lined with a solid mass of people. Many of them had been standing at favorable places for hours. The president's reception as he was rapidly driven over the route was a tremendous one. Hats were thrown in the air by the mine workers, so enthusiastic were they in their greeting. The president appeared extremely pleased at the demonstration and kept bowing to the right and left. The crowd at the speakers' stand was greater than which greeted Roosevelt at the train and the demonstration was no noisy that took several minutes to quiet the enthusiasm and permit the exercises to begin.

Those who spoke were President Roosevelt, Cardinal Gibbons, President Mitchell, Mayor Kirkendall and Father Curran. After the exercises the entire party, including the local reception committee and others, reentered carriages for a drive about the city, following which they crossed the river to the west bank and drove to historic Wyoming, six miles north of the city which pleased him immensely. A feature of the president's drive about the city which pleased him immensely was his singing of about 300 little girls dressed in white. The president ordered his carriage stopped and while he stood bowing and waving his hat to the little ones, they sang "The Red, White and Blue." This was the signal for a great outburst of cheering.

At various points along the route to Wyoming crowds assembled and cheered him enthusiastically. Nearly all the school children of Wyoming were lined up, singing the national anthem as the president and party entered grounds surrounding the Wyoming monument. He spoke briefly, thanking the children for coming out to greet him, and hoped they would grow up good American citizens.

After viewing the monument the party drove through Exeter and West Pittston and across the Susquehanna river to Pittston. The people of the place did not know the president of the United States was among them until they heard the clatter of the horses. They recognized him as he rapidly drove past. The president bowed cordially to the surprised citizens, who promptly acknowledged the greeting. The president reached the Lehigh Valley railroad station in Pittston at 7 o'clock, where a special train was boarded and the party left for Chautauqua. Cardinal Gibbons expressed his gratitude as well as that of the people for the president's visit. "He has held out the olive branch to two great nations of the earth, he is discharging the blessed office of peacemaker and he brings the olive branch of peace and good will to you," said the cardinal. "I have no doubt that his visit will be a potent factor in cementing the good relations between you and your employers. The president's mission will be far-reaching in its beneficent influence if he strengthens here the good relations between employer and employee. There should be no conflict between labor and capital. They should be united and inseparable. We are social beings, created to exist together. No man is sufficient unto himself; every man needs the aid of his fellow beings."

The cardinal closed by recommending to the sons of toil the practice of industry and economy and the virtues of temperance and religion.

Waverly, N. Y., Aug. 10.—President Roosevelt arrived here en route to Chautauqua at 8:15 P. M.

INTERSTATE SHERIFFS.
St. Paul, Aug. 10.—The Interstate Sheriffs' association to day passed resolutions recommending that in states where the law be repealed, if necessary, a constitutional convention be called to test the sentiment of the people.

Sheriff Carey, of Wisconsin, noted the fact in an admirable paper that in Wisconsin a sheriff can serve but one term of two years. He said that it was impossible for an incumbent to become more than acquainted with the duties of his office before he was succeeded by a new official, who underwent a like experience.

NEW GERMAN TREATY.
Washington, Aug. 10.—The Post says on the authority of a high government official that in view of the prospect of heavy losses from the German government and the decision of the German government to end the tariff arrangement under which this government and Germany now operate, President Roosevelt has partially decided to negotiate an entirely new treaty of amity and commerce with Germany and submit it to the senate at the next session for ratification.

After Johnson's confession he was confronted with Parker, and the latter, who has been the more stolid all along, is said by the police to be also on the verge of collapse. Parker, it was stated, admitted that the case against him was too strong to be successfully fought, but said he would not talk further until later in the day.

He commended the achievements of the summer school and wished it a long and prosperous career.

FUNERAL WILL BE PRIVATE

ARCHBISHOP CHAPPELLE TO BE BURIED SATURDAY

Sixty New Cases of Yellow Fever and Seven Deaths Yesterday— Feeling Among Health Officials Continues Hopeful.

New Orleans, Aug. 10.—Official report to a p. m:
New cases, 60.
Total cases, 730.
Deaths, 7.
Total deaths, 162.

In order that no unnecessary risks might be taken it was announced to day both by Surgeon White and Father Scott, in charge of the arrangements, that the funeral of the late Archbishop Chappelle Saturday will be private. Dr. White said it was a fact accepted by scientists that yellow fever could not be transmitted by a corpse, but it is considered there would be some element of danger in attracting to the cathedral an immense assemblage of people from all sections of the city. The cathedral is located within the originally infected district, within a stone's throw of the French market, and there has been fever on all sides of it.

To day solemn requiem mass was said in honor of the dead archbishop. The body rested on a bier in the main aisle and it was found that the remains were sufficiently preserved to permit the removal of the metallic covering. Many people viewed the remains through the glass.

With the death rate remaining lower than in the previous visitations of the fever the feeling here both among the health authorities and the laity continues hopeful. Physicians realize that two months or more remain during which the disease may have to be combated and they are unwilling to express opinions at this time as to the scope it may take later on.

Honningsvaag, Norway, Aug. 10.—The Arctic steamer Terra Nova, which went to the relief of the Fialla Zeigler polar expedition, has rescued Anthony Fialla and all others connected with the expedition with the exception of a Norwegian sailor, who died of natural causes. The ship America, which took out the expedition, was crushed in the ice early in winter.

RAILROAD NEWS NOTES

Fever Quarantine Affects Pas- senger Service—Items of In- terest—Personal Mention.

Because of the rigid quarantine regulations adopted by cities of Louisiana and Mississippi to guard against an epidemic of yellow fever, the passenger service of the railroads traversing those states is seriously affected. The Illinois Central and other companies for several days suspended fast through trains south of Memphis, although local train schedules were unchanged. The regulations adopted by the health authorities of Baton Rouge, a fair sample of those followed throughout the threatened district, called for the placing of inspectors on every train and boat from New Orleans, with the following duties:

"They shall obtain the home and Baton Rouge address of each passenger coming to Baton Rouge.

"That all persons stopping at Baton Rouge be obliged to report to the board of health for five consecutive days after arrival.

"Each inspector shall turn over their tickets with the name of every passenger stopping at Baton Rouge, after the arrival of trains or boats.

"Ticket agents on the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley road and on the Texas and Pacific road be instructed not to sell tickets to Baton Rouge to any Italian families coming from the infected districts, and that inspectors see that no Italian families from said districts get off at Baton Rouge."

Rules adopted by the Alabama health board call for a relay of coaches at the state line, compelling the Louisville and Nashville and other companies to use two sets of trains for each run made out of the infected district.

The city of Laurel, Miss., has notified Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City railroad officials that the company's trains must speed through that place at the rate of thirty miles an hour, owing to the fear of contagion.

The rear end of the tanks of Washash engines, now coming from the Decatur shops where was formerly emblazoned the engine numbers in figures that could be read half a mile away are now as black as midnight. The numbers on the rear end are painted out in pursuance of orders of the management. It is said that this is done as a matter of economy. The number on the rear end in aluminum is said to cost for labor and material about 80 cents.

The Washash banner in red and gold which ornaments the letter panel of the passenger engines is also being obliterated. It is evident the motto of the new management is "Nothing for display."

The number of an engine is prominently displayed on headlight, front end, sides and tank in order that it may be identified by the crew of a passing train. The number on the rear end of the tank cannot be seen when an engine is attached to a train, but it may serve a useful purpose if the engine is backing up or running light.

PORTLAND TRIP ABANDONED

Governor Deneen Will Devote Himself to Business, and Will Not Visit Exposition—Matter of Appointments to Have First Consideration.

Governor Deneen has abandoned his Portland trip. Press of official business and a determination to get the appointments out of the way have combined to change the course of his plans. Instead, Superintendent of Public Instruction Alfred Bayless will represent the executive and the state of Illinois on Illinois day. Governor Deneen is still at work on the solution of the appointment problem. He has not finished the canvass of the state by counties, which he inaugurated some time ago. To see representatives of the entire 192 counties, giving each a day, requires that many days, or considerably more than three months, provided no days are lost. He has, of course, lost the Sundays. From time to time other days have been dropped for more pressing business and instead of occupying three and a half months, the process of interviewing each county will require fully five months.

The delay in the announcement of appointments has naturally created great interest in the state. It has been the custom in the past for governors to make appointments soon after their induction into office. The first four months of Governor Deneen's official career, however, was devoted entirely to state and legislative business. Appointments were not thought of. After the assembly adjourned he took a brief rest, amounting to two or three days. Then came the Chicago strike situation. There have been a number of important murder cases from Chicago which have consumed much time. Governor Deneen came into the office with a limited acquaintance with the down state people. His pre-convention campaign had been confined almost entirely to Chicago. He made no fight for any of the counties outside of Cook, and had made no promises or pledges. His campaign for election had given him little opportunity to get acquainted with the people and the party leaders. Consequently he began the system of calling in the county leaders one county after another to discuss with them local conditions and wants. Many of the conferences developed the existence of fictional fights and jealousies. In many of the big counties and big districts of the state he found disagreeable situations that could not be harmonized in a day. Some of these counties and districts have been here several times.

A well known senator who knows Governor Deneen well and has frequently been consulted, said to day that the bulk of the appointments will be made in the next sixty days. "Deneen is moving slowly," he said. "He has had to get acquainted with the men and the conditions as they are. Oglesby and Tanner and Yates all had thorough knowledge of state politics and leaders by reason of long association in politics with the down-state sections. Governor Deneen is a new man in the state outside of Chicago, and he has had to get acquainted. He has gone about this most carefully and courageously. It is a monumental task to see representative Republicans of 192 counties in a state like Illinois, where there is, almost without exception, petty jealousies, factionalism and rivalry, very slight in some cases and very serious in others. Deneen wants the party harmonized. He would wipe out these factional differences. I have no doubt of his upright intentions to give the people and the party a square deal. It may seem a little late for appointments, but it is better to take time and make fewer mistakes than it is to rush ahead and repent at leisure. I believe I speak the truth when I say that only the best interests of the people and the party actuate the governor and that appointments are not being held up for any political or factional benefit or advantage."—Springfield News.

Crusade Against Milk Adultera- tion—New Phase of Spring- field Light Question—Reci- procity Delegates—Springfield Couple Avoided New Illinois Divorce Law.

MILK ADULTERATION.
Chicago—Milk conditions in Illinois towns outside of Chicago are causing a flood of complaints in the office of the pure food commission. "Because of the cramped facilities they cannot exercise such close supervision as is possible in Chicago, and the milk now sold in some places is denounced as 'rank poison.' Formaldehyde is being used freely by country milk dealers, according to complainants. In Moultrie county, out of forty samples examined recently, twenty-eight were found to contain matter forbidden by the law. Crusades are being instituted in some of the towns, such as Kankakee, Monmouth, Sullivan and Galesburg, and it is expected that more evidence of adulteration will soon be made.

URBANA MAN KILLED.
Urbana—W. E. Kneckerbocker of Urbana, Ill., was run over and killed by a Vandalla train at Troy, Ill., early Wednesday morning. He was walking along the tracks and was said to have been intoxicated. The body was cut into fragments and an arm and other pieces were found in the tracks of a coach when the train reached the Union station in this city. An inquest was held on the parts found here and another inquest was held on the remains found near Troy. Coroner Barron is awaiting a requisition from the coroner at Troy for the parts found here.

TRAGIC DEATH.
Glad—James McGlynn, a young man aged 22 years, met a tragic death at Nilwood Wednesday night. While in an intoxicated condition, he sat down on the depot platform with his feet on the railroad track, and went to sleep. A north-bound C. & A. fast train came along and struck him, hurling him several feet upon the platform, and his head was crushed just above the left ear, and he was rendered unconscious, and died within ten minutes after the accident.

SPRINGFIELD LIGHT QUESTION.
Springfield—A new phase in the war regarding whether the city shall operate its own street lighting plant or lease to for a term of years to the Public Utilities company appeared Wednesday, when the city of Springfield asked in the Sanborn circuit court for an injunction restraining the Springfield light, heat and power company from taking down any of the poles, wires, etc., which they claim to own. "The utilities company has an injunction against the city, restraining the city from taking possession of a dynamo and certain poles, wires and lamps, which are used in connection with the municipal plant, and which the utilities company claims to own. A hearing will be held in the court Friday morning on a motion by the city to dissolve this last named injunction."

RECIPROcity DELEGATES

Springfield—Governor Deneen Wednesday appointed the following delegates to the national reciprocity conference, which will meet at Chicago Aug. 16 and 17: H. T. Crowell and James Deering, Chicago; H. E. Halliday, Cairo; E. P. Bronson, Chester; Chris. Chittenden, Mendon; U. G. Oemdorff, Canton; Col. W. B. Brinton, Peru; and Hon. Chas. H. Deere, Moline.

PRICE OF WHISKY.

Peoria—Peoria and Pekin distilleries Wednesday announced a raise in the basic price of spirits from $1.27 to $1.28 a gallon. The manufacturers say that it is impossible for them to make money with corn selling above 50 cents. Corn on the local board is now quoted at 55 cents. The raise in the price of whisky is also said to indicate that the disastrous war between the trust and independent manufacturers is at an end. The fight began over six months ago, and the price was forced down as low as $1.17 a gallon, much below the cost value.

AVOIDED DIVORCE LAW.

Springfield—Frank Bruner and Mrs. Lizze W. Baldwin, of Springfield, Ill., were married Wednesday by Justice Robert J. Carroll in St. Louis. Before going to St. Louis they applied for a marriage license at Springfield, and it was refused under the provisions of a new law in Illinois, which prohibits the marriage, within a year of persons who have divorced. Mrs. Baldwin had recently secured a divorce from her husband. This is said to be the first marriage in St. Louis of persons who come under the ban of the new law. Both parties were well dressed. They left for Springfield on a forenoon train.

VIRGINIA DEATH.

Virginia—Jacob Drinkwater died Wednesday evening at 9:30 o'clock at the home of his son, John T. Drinkwater, near this city. He was 84 years of age and came to this state with his parents over eighty years ago having resided all that time in Morgan and Cass counties.

AN ERRING SENATOR

Determination of Twelve Year Old Son Caused Raid of His Sort Where Father Had Gone.

St. Louis, Aug. 10.—In that part of the St. Louis police records for Wednesday classified as "not for the press" is the unusual story of the rescue from women's wiles of a saintly senator from southern Illinois by his 12-year-old son.

The father left St. Louis Wednesday morning for home in the care of the boy, who had been sent by the wife and mother as a guard against the dangers of conviviality on the part of the father.

The senator left his home over a week ago on a trip which took him to Vincennes, Ind., Springfield, Ill., and one or two other places. When he and the boy arrived in St. Louis Thursday they went to a restaurant and hotel on Fifteenth street, conducted by an acquaintance of the senator. The senator left the boy there, stating that he would be back in a little while. The boy waited all day and his father did not return.

Among his father's papers the boy found an address. He determined to go there, and the efforts of the hotel attaches to dissuade him were futile. He found his father at that address, the house of a woman, and begged him to come away, but the senator refused.

"Finding that he could not get his father away the boy asked him for a certified check for $1,500 on the bank of his home city which he knew he had with him; but the senator would not give it to him.

After another attempt to get his father away from the woman, the boy appealed to Captain Gaffney of the Second police district, who raided the house, forced the woman to give up the $1,500 check and sent the erring senator to the Good Samaritan hospital to recover from his debauch.

CONSUMPTION THREATENED.

C. Unger, 211 Maple street, Champaign, Ill., writes: "I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption. I tried a great many remedies and was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cured me and I have not been troubled since. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City drug store."

FADISM.
A Nebraska college professor says America is engulfed in a sea of fadism. Yes, and one of the best places to begin reformation is in the American college. The art of coloring a pipe seems to be one of the most popular electives not found in the catalogue, but quite generally taken by the students. Even the cigarette has invaded the faculty circle and in the matter of beverages a most liberal policy is tolerated. The average college regime is not what it should be. The college, next to the church, should stand for the highest principles in morality, religion and not allow mere intellectuality to usurp the entire field. The college that fails to make men fails utterly. It is a dangerous thing to educate a man unless he is educated to think right, to act right and to do right. In order to reach this attainment the student in the formative period of his life must be surrounded by every influence that tends in this direction. The members of every college faculty should be conspicuous for their Christian culture, refinement and high moral conduct and the fact of brains or proficiency in the particular branch taught should be of secondary importance. In the large college the tendency to consider brains as the summum bonum has gone too far. The principles a man stands for should be the first inquiry made and until such a practice obtains the American college will not be above censure. The boast of many of the colleges of to day is that they are not sectarian. The idea of the compulsory attendance at college prayers has been abandoned as an antiquated custom, while the old Sunday chapel idea is considered antediluvian. Many of these former customs now considered as tinged with Puritanism, exercised an unconscious influence for good over the mind of the student. The curriculum of the modern college offers nothing in their place and the question is an open one as to whether the vacuum has ever been filled.

DEATH RECORD

LEWIS.
Mary Susan (Hix) Lewis, widow of the late John Lewis, and niece of Mrs. Mary Dewees of this city, entered peacefully into rest Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock at her residence, 5222 Kensington avenue, St. Louis, at the age of 68 years, 10 months and 5 days.

Mary Susan Hix was born Oct. 4, 1890, and was married to John Henry Lewis, Jan. 16, 1895. She lost two sons by death, one in 1890 and another in 1893, and became a widow in 1901. Truly of this noble woman it may be said "of many sorrows and acquainted with grief." But "He giveth His beloved sleep," a sleep that in this case was welcomed by one who expressed herself in her last moments that she was not afraid of death, and that she was "going to the loved ones on the other side." She leaves four daughters, one of whom, Miss Ada, has been a faithful companion of Mrs. Dewees during her late illness.

The late John Henry Lewis, the husband of the deceased, was a descendant of the famous pioneer of that name who was associated with Clark in the opening of the great northwest, and was himself a prominent figure in war times, when he served his country with distinction.

The funeral services of Mrs. Lewis were held Thursday morning and the remains were laid to rest in beautiful Bellefontaine cemetery.

CORCORAN.
Word has been received of the death of Edgar W. Corcoran, of Chicago, who passed away at his home Wednesday.

Decedent was born in this city on College street in 1849. He is survived by his brother, W. H. Corcoran, of this city, and two sisters, one residing in St. Louis and another in Kansas City.

The funeral will be held in Chicago to day.

DAVIS.
Mrs. Maggie Blue Davis died at her home on Chestnut street Thursday afternoon at the age of 23 years.

She was born Jan. 19, 1882, and leaves to mourn her loss her father and mother and two sisters, Mrs. Eliza Hitt, of this city, and Mrs. Nellie Finney, of St. David, Ill.; two brothers, John F. and Robert Blue; also hosts of friends who will sadly miss her presence among them.

The funeral announcement will be made later.

FUNERALS
CONKLIN.

The funeral of Mrs. O. F. Conklin was conducted from the late residence, 202 South Church street, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Rev. R. O. Post. Appropriate music was furnished by Miss Kate Rogerson, Mrs. Kate Hollinger, John L. Johnson and Oliver Mason, and the numerous flowers were in charge of Miss Cox and Mrs. T. B. Oren.

An Absurd Idea.

Skeptical.

"Huh!" rejoined the young man in the case. "That's nothing. I proposed to at least a dozen girls before I met you."—Detroit Tribune.

Small Wish.
"And do you think, dearest," queried the young man in the case, "that your father will consent to our marriage?"

"Sure thing," replied the fair maid. "My slightest wish is law with him."—Chicago News.

The Saddest Word.

ANNUAL PICNIC

STATE MEETING OF MUTUAL PROTECTIVE LEAGUE

Elaborate Program of Exercises Carried to Successful Conclusion—Parade—Business Session—Addresses—Athletic Events—Was Gala Day.

The state picnic celebration of the M. P. L. was held in Jacksonville Thursday, and while the arrangements of the local committee were complete in every particular, the crowd was a disappointment and the delegations from surrounding towns were not as large as had been promised. The program, however, was carried out according to schedule and the local councils are entitled to great credit for the zealous manner in which they worked for the success of the undertaking. The visitors present seemed to enjoy themselves and the attractions offered proved popular. Joliet gets the meeting next year.

DELEGATE ARRIVE.

The delegates began to arrive Wednesday night, among the first being the delegates and team of the Joliet council, which arrived on the Humber at midnight. Other delegations arrived from time to time until, by the time the hour for the business meeting arrived, the various councils of the state were well represented. The reception committee was on hand at all times to receive the visitors and look after their comfort, and no complaint was heard on this score.

THE PARADE.

The exercises of the day began at 11 o'clock with a grand parade of local and visiting members. Scott Carter, as marshal of the day, was in charge, and his aides were Dr. W. G. Means and William Anderson. These headed the parade and were followed by a platoon of police under command of Chief Dunavan; the reception committee represented by W. W. Hart and W. F. Timmerman; the Virginia band; the supreme officers, E. E. Burson, of Litchfield, president; W. M. Groves, of Petersburg, national lecturer; J. R. Paisley, of Litchfield, secretary; George L. Tipton, of Girard, treasurer; R. P. Bolton, of Litchfield, and C. O. Swart, of Raymond, directors, in carriages; Whitehall council and team; Joliet council and team; Litchfield council; Jacksonville council No. 269, and the visiting brethren. A carryall artistically draped with the colors of the order, and filled with little girls dressed in white, brought up the rear.

BUSINESS SESSION.

At 2 o'clock the delegates met at the headquarters in Odeon hall for their business session. The meeting was called to order by President W. E. Baker, who introduced Supreme Secretary J. R. Paisley, of Litchfield, as chairman. The regular routine business was transacted. Joliet came down prepared to take the next meeting and had no trouble in doing so. Officers for the next state picnic were elected as follows:

President—Thomas L. Hogan, of Joliet.
Vice president—W. L. Hallett, of Alton.
Secretary-treasurer—J. P. Leonard, of Joliet.
The delegates in attendance from out of the city were as follows:

SPEAKING IN THE PARK.

At the conclusion of the business session all gathered in the park, where the address of welcome to the visitors was given by Mayor John R. Davis. This response was made by E. E. Burson, supreme president, of Litchfield. Short addresses were also made by Chaplain J. Jay Dugan, of Bluffs, and Rev. W. M. Groves, of Petersburg. Supreme Director Bolton, of Litchfield, then, in behalf of the supreme officers, presented a gold medal to Joliet council No. 438 for having enrolled the greatest number of members between Jan. 1st and June 1st. The response was made by T. L. Hogan. The silver medal, as second prize, was awarded to Fidelity council No. 269 of this city, and was received by Joseph Gimes.

AMUSEMENTS.

At different intervals during the afternoon very creditable vaudeville performances were given on the northeast corner of the square, and the Virginia band furnished excellent music. Two good balloon ascensions were also given, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

BABY SHOW.

There were twenty-two entries in the baby show which was held in the pagoda, and the judges had a very difficult time deciding to whom the three prizes should go. After much deliberation they were awarded as follows:

First prize to child of Mrs. Albina Everts.
Second prize to child of Mrs. Albert Buckley.
Third prize to child of Mrs. Mabel Howe.

The judges were E. E. Burson, of Litchfield; W. M. Groves, of Petersburg, and Rev. J. J. Dugan, of Bluffs.

DRILL CONTEST.

There were two teams entered in the drill contest—a team of eight ladies from White Hall and a team of ladies and gentlemen from Joliet. Both teams showed excellent ability and their exhibitions were greeted with applause. The contest was held on the north side of the square and the prize was awarded to the Joliet team.

The judges were Joseph Gimes, Earl Vickery and John McDonnell.

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

The athletic sports were under the general supervision of J. B. Mayes. The events and winners were as follows:

Foot men's race—First, George Stice; second, W. L. Tice.
Nail driving contest for women—First, Mrs. Lou Groce; second, Nellie Hulet.

Wheelbarrow race—First, George Lewis; second, W. R. Finley.

Barrel race—First, George Lewis; second, Charles Gaines.

Potato race—First, Charles Gaines; second, William Gaines.

FREE DANCE.

A free dance was enjoyed by the local and visiting members of the order at Odeon hall during the afternoon and lasted until late at night. This proved to be one of the most enjoyable features of the occasion.

The local committee who had the arrangements for the picnic in their care are to be congratulated upon the success with which everything was carried out.

PERSONAL PROPERTY SALE.

The sale of the personal property of Hugh Million was held at his residence, one and one-fourth miles southeast of Murrayville, Aug. 10th. The attendance was good and everything sold well. Two mares and colts brought $44.50, one mare $110, five steers sold for $132.50 and two calves for $67. Cows sold for $30 each, a sow and pigs $33 and sheep brought from $5 to $6.25 each. The total sum realized was about $1,100. Capt. J. E. Wright was the auctioneer and M. J. Clertan was the clerk.

TOM WALSH of COLORADO

A Mining King With Social Aspirations

Born in Poverty, Now a Multi-millionaire—Partner of a Monarch and Lessee of a Newport Mansion as an Entree into the 400

Lavish Entertainer Who Captivated Parisians With Striking Social Functions—Owner of a Sixty Room Palace—Benefactor of Miners

HAVE you heard the latest sensation in high society? It is that the Walshes—the Tom Walshes of Colorado—are going to break into the Four Hundred by way of Newport. The word "sensation" is used advisedly. Almost anything Thomas F. Walsh does in a social way is apt to be sensational. The entertainments he gave in Paris in 1900 were so much so that they left all Europe gasping. That is the time Walsh got King Leopold of Belgium on the string.

Commissioner to Paris Exposition. The story of those entertainments is still told with gusto by the Paris boulevardiers. It appears that after Walsh made his strike in the San Juan country he went to Denver and was snubbed by the high society of Capitol Hill, the region where Denver's swell set most do congregate. Then the Walshes concluded they would strike at the top. An appointment as United States commissioner to the Paris exposition of 1900 gave the opportunity. So Walsh planned his campaign: A mere display of wealth would not answer the purpose. To that must be added imagination, liberality, audacity. A Selma boat was chartered and fitted up as never a Selma boat was fitted before. Walsh's motto was that he must have the best of everything regardless of expense. He got it.

After entertaining most everybody on the boat a special train of five pal-out from 10 to 20 per cent was worth knowing. Would Walsh see him? He would. Not only so, but he would entertain him. The function came off at 111th and was still more dazzling than any that had gone before. Even the czar's own band was brought into requisition. Of course the czar's band never played for private entertainments, but Walsh opined that a judicious use of gold might attract even the fancy of royal musicians, and he had the gold. The band heard the jingle and turned on the harmony. After that Tom Walsh, poor Irish boy, former wheelwright, sewer worker, hotel keeper and miner, and Leopold II., king of all the Belgians, were sworn friends. Walsh had no blue blood, but he had yellow money, and the colors seem interchangeable. Leopold had some mines up the Congo that he wanted the American to look after. He also had a little money to invest, and 10 to 20 per cent looked good to him, so he and Walsh entered into a sort of partnership. Now let the Denver nabobs turn up their noses. The man who can hobnob with royalty needs none of them.

The Walshes did more entertaining in Paris. It was estimated, in fact, that they spent half a million at it. Before leaving they took the entire first floor of the Elvsee Palace hotel to give a blowout to their friends. They said that they had aimed to entertain all the Americans in Paris, and Walsh usually does not fall short of his aims.

begin while a boy in Ireland. It was continued while he was prospecting in the Black Hills and while keeping hotel in Leadville. It was that gold would be found in the tops of the ranges. He reasoned that volcanic action had pushed the veins out through the world's roof, as it were. Other mining men laughed at the idea, but Walsh was not the sort of man to be deterred by jeers. The result was that he went to the top of the San Juan mountains, in a place considered exceedingly dangerous because of snowslides, and there located and secured a vein over six miles long, making one of the richest single mines in the world.

"Grubstaker" of Miners. He had another theory. It was that human nature can be trusted; that man have more good than bad in them. This caused him to "grubstake" miners, as it is called—that is, furnish them with supplies they needed and trust them until they "struck it rich." It also caused him to let men who were out of money have board and lodging free at his "Grand Central hotel" in the roaring, rushing days of early Leadville. It also caused him to treat his employees like human beings, to build a fine hotel on his mining property for them, where, instead of the tough fare usually received by gold miners, they could have clean, light and steam heated rooms, porcelain baths, good cooking, a library and reading room and other of the conveniences of civilized life; likewise to pay them good wages and to give them the eight hour day when the law did not require it. This feeling for men extends even to animals. About his mine is posted a notice warning all against the killing of birds and harmless beasts. Any employee found guilty of this offense is instantly discharged. Mr. Walsh is very fond of the little camp birds. In fact, his chief property is called the Camp Bird mine.

Mr. Walsh was born in Tipperary, Ireland, in 1851. He was educated in the common schools and was apprenticed early as a wheelwright, to which fact he ascribes much of his knowledge of mining machinery in later life. At the age of nineteen he came to America, first working on a sewer contract at Worcester, Mass. Then he went to the Black Hills, in South Dakota, and made a small stake in a gold mine, after which he found his way to Leadville, Colo., when that was said to be the wickedest and wildest open town in the world. Here he married Miss Carrie B. Read, a poor girl from southern Wisconsin. It was a love match. Mrs. Walsh is quite as kindly and hospitable an entertainer as her husband. A few years ago she dazzled Washington by the fine array of gowns she brought home from Paris. They were voted the swiftest ever seen in the capital. She had a photographer at the house one whole day and was photographed in each of the costumes in turn. The photographer's bill alone was $700. She is noted for her ability in capturing all the social lions of the season and parading them at her functions.

Well Read, Bright and Interesting. It must not be imagined from all of the foregoing that the Walshes lack culture. While largely self educated, both are well read, keen, bright and interesting. Money alone would not have won the successes they have enjoyed. They simply are at home in the sort of life they live. They revel in it. It is their world. They have open handed hospitality of the western sort. Tom Walsh himself is unostentatious, a shrewd, kindly Irishman who likes people and has a head for business. One of the features of his Washington house is a fine Italian garden, and in his homes the artistic element is much in evidence.

They are picturesque and interesting specimens of a sort of life that America has developed. They should feel at home in the Four Hundred. Why not? If they like that sort of thing, there is no reason why it should not like them. They will be quite as ornamental to the smart set perhaps as those who got their money from their grandfathers. Thomas F. Walsh has ideas, very vital ones, too, and that is much. Besides, he has imagination and quite a stock of native, human good will. He sees the possibilities of the west, both in agriculture and mining. He says that the mountains have only been scratched; that they are still full of precious ores. As Babylon was built by irrigation, he believes that a great empire in the shadow of the Rockies will spring up under the same magic spell. In his way he has helped to prove his faith by works.

These things may not recommend him to the smart set, it is true, but he also has all sorts of money, and that will. J. A. EDGERTON.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private life, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease, and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female diseases.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating females, Mrs. Pinkham can advise women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Me. She writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham: I feel that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctor for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female trouble and would daily have fainting spells, backache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.
